LABOUR BACKS LEAGUE: ITALY IN ERROR

London, Aug. 1. "One of the most difficult world problems to-day is that raised by the existence of States that have Empires and States that have not," declared Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, during a foreign affairs Hoare, Foreign Secretary, uniting debate initiated in the House of Commons to-day by Britain To

Mr. George Lansbury, Labour leader, demanded two World Conferences-firstly, a disarmament conference for the purpose of abolishing aerial warfare; and, secondly, the resummoning of the World Economic Conference. With regard to Abyssinia, Mr. Lansbury promised the Labour support of the Government as long as it upheld the League Covenant obligations, though they did not ask that British should act alone.

Sir Herbert Samuel (Liberal) thought it no derogation of the League if Italy, France and Britain, under the 1908 Treaty, got together on the Abyssinian question. He asked the Government to contradict the report that Italian co-operation in Central European matters was so eagerly desired that Britain and France had tied their hands by assurances given to Italy.

Sir Samuel Hoare, replying, spoke with great satisfaction caused by the United States having condemned any recourse to war. Britain, he said, was fully conscious of her Treaty and Covenant obligations, and certainly intends to maintain them.

After referring to Imperial Speaker Empowered To versus non-Imperial countries, Sir Samuel Hoare said the way to settle these things was not by recourse to force, but by conciliation. He was nervous of World Conferences unless they were well prepared. The Economic Conference still existed and maybe in the future we should again have recourse thereto.

GREAT GULF

Britain had already, in March, taken the initiative in favour of the abolition of aerial warfare. but it was impossible to discuss such matters without German cooperation, and at present there was a great gulf on the disarmament question between France and Germany.

In the event of hostilities in East Africa, whether the victor be Italy or Abyssinia, the effect would be immeasurably harmful to the League. It would produce endless complications, controversy and

It was intended, following conference at Manchuli, between Japanese and Mongolian representatives, to arrange for the exchange of diplomats. Manchukuo's allegation that such an exchange was necessary in order to preserve the friendly relations of the two countries and that for the protection of the 2,000,000 Mongola in Manchukuo such an arrangement was desirable on the other side, was counterbalanced, HOUSE according to the Japanese view, by Russian influences at work in Mongolia. # DIPLOMATIC FORMULA NOT YET ACCEPTED

Geneva, Aug. 1.

Grave complications beset the delegates to the League of Nations Council meeting who are striving to arrive at a formula which will enable Italy and Abyssinia to reach a peaceful settlement in their. present dispute. It is conceded that much depends upon Signor: Benito Mussolini, the Italian Prime. Minister, at this moment.

A draft resolution, which embraces a compromise plan to which British, France and Italian spokesmen agreed, has yet to be approved by Signor Mussolini. And in some quarters it is believed that he has already declined to accept it.

Signor Mussolini's decision for or against this draft resolution will not be forthcoming until to-morrow morning. Meanwhile, Mr. Anthony Eden, of Great Britain, M. Pierre Laval, Prime Minister of France and Baron Aloisi, the Italian spokesman at Geneva, must mark time. The Council meeting scheduled for to-day has been abandoned.

Britain, says one well-informed source, cannot accept Signor LOWEST FOR FIVE Mussolini's counter-proposals for settlement of the III Italo-Abyssinia affair and at the same time stand by the amendment introduced by Mr. Eden in the French draft resolution last night. M. Laval, Mr. Eden and Baron Aloisi consequently met at 7 o'clock this evening in the hope of reaching a solution to their difficulties. The chief point of difference at the moment is that Italy is insisting that the Council can in no way be associated with the negotiations of the three signatories of the 1906, Treaty. Britain: France and Italy, and to: them should be left any discussion of the African situation as it is affected by that treaty.

OBSTACLE REMOVED

It was stated that one of the biggest obstacles to agreement had been virtually removed when Mr. Eden, M. Laval and Baron. Aloisi met and adopted their compromise resolution, which. provided for the omission of the disputed clause of the draft? resolution associating the League with tri-partite negotiations.

The compromise is said to have made the Italo-Abyssinian quarrel subject to separate declarations by the three powers signatory to the 1906 treaty, who would formally confirm their readiness; to negotiate in the spirit of that treaty. This would seem to mean that the League would be deprived of authority at this stage and that a settlement should be sought between Britain, France and Italy, together with the fourth power interested, Abyssinia. #### MARKET DOWNWARD YESTERDAY

New York, Aug. 1.

The following reports on the New York Stock market have been received through blessrs. Swan, Culbertson, &

The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market: Stocks to-day yesterday's market: Blocks to-day were downward on general profittaking. Utilities slumped on the Senate decision rejecting the "death sentence" clause in the Utilities Bill demanded by President Roosevelt.
Rails, steels, motors and farm equipments cased. Bonds were upward, led by rails. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were irregular.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: The market to-day was easier on scattered profit-taking, with the undertone irregular. Northern American carned $1.13 per share for the year ending June 30 As against $1.05 for the previous year. The June quarter profits of the Radio Corporation were 31 cents per share (pre-ferred b.b.) as against 13 cents per share for the same quarter of tast year. Fox Films showed a profit for the June quarter of $738,974 as against a profit of $393,805 for the June quarter of 1934. Electric Fower lost $834,857 for the June quarter as against a loss of $694,886 for the same period last year. Brokers' Loans during the past week totalled $850,000,000 compared with $880,000,000,000 during the previous week.

New York and Chicago commodity reports received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson & Fritz: Cotton: Following, on favourable

Cotton: Following, on lavourable crop reports, the average leading private estimates to-day indicate a crop of 11,432,000 bales.

Wheat: The J. E. Bennett and Company estimate of the wheat crop is believed to be about average. There has been heavy profit-taking and we think that we would purchase and Fritz in conjunction with Reuter.

The color declines only until the crop is greater than the conjunction with Reuter.

on good declines only until the tendency for a quick turn-over has subsidea. Corn: Favourable rains are maintaining the crop outlook. Rubber: The rubber market is steady. Buying by one of the large dealers was a reature to-day and the market acts well.

Hides: It is reported that manufacturers are well stocked for the present and the leather trade is Sugar: The market is unchanged,

Russia has begun a fascinating experiment in authorship. Soviet writers have started to read selections from their books to audiences of young people who criticize and Juggest improvements. High hopes are entertained of this experiment. It is the reduction to a system of a method that has often proved useful when sporadically employed in the past. Alert authors have frequently taken hints from their readers, though Jane Austen once declined a suggestion made by no less distinguished an admirer than the Prince Regent to the effect that she should write a romantic costume novel. And that is to noted particularly among persons Savings Bank, the National Savings Association, and the Trustee novels if only he will leave us know and love! Savings Banks. The most remarkable of these is the National Savings movement. It began during the War to enable small investors to help in financing the war, and savings certificates now amount to more than 890 million sterling, with nccrued interest of 98 millions. Thirty-five years ago the Trustee Savings Banks had funds of 52 millions: now these exceed 226 danger to the public arises from millions. # MRS. MOODY'S GREAT RECOVERY

TENNIS PLAYED BY THE TWO FINALISTS

MIXED DOUBLES EVENTS

(BY H. S. SCRIVENER)

London, July 8. Mrs. Moody is indeed a great player. That must have been the inevitable conclusion arrived at by all who saw her win the women's singles championship at Wmbledon for the seventh time on Saturday. And what about Miss Jacobs, who was only beaten after being within a stroke of has won the Wimbledon Singles victory. She is unquestionably a great player, too. In fact, so splendidly did these two girls play that one felt inclined to wish that both could have won.

Among those who witnessed this splendid battle from the Royal Box were Princess Helena Victoria, Prin-coss Mario Louise, the Earl of WYATT IN Athlone, Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, the Lord Mayor of London, the American NEED OF Swiss Ministers. The next reflection, apropos of Mrs. Moody's greatness, is that she has regained in a positively wonderful manner the position of foremost woman player in the world, which she was compelled to relinquish nearly two years ago, after a return to tournament play which has lasted for only a few weeks.

In that short space of time she has had to overcome the difficulties caused by what may be termed lack of the tournament habit; she has sustained a defeat which to anyone less courageous would have proved distinctly disheartening and has had to reckon with the probability that several of her former rivals speaking generally-might have proved to have gone ahead while she had been standing still. Yet nothing has turned her from her purpose, and in the course of her passage to the final she has gone on from strength to strength until on Saturday we saw her in full possession of her wonderful stroke equipment and, what is more, blest weakened by my fractured jaw," with supreme coolness, confidence and determination.

Thus is it that crises like that of of Test and county cricket this and overcome. So it came about that

It sounds a marvellous side but several causes conspired to rob it of victory.

ILL FORTUNE

To begin with, the tour had hardly opened when A. Sandham, one of the regular opening battmen, met with so serious a mother accident that he could take no further part in the games after the third. He played in no Test Match at all, and this left Wyntt without a partner for opening. Mr. Ross stated that the confest had been definitely fixed for September 19, 20 and 21, and he invited those present to tell their respectives Committees to nominate members to serve on the Selection Committee, and to act as officials judges, timekeepers, etc.

There would not be much time for trials, but the Colony championships which would be held on August 28, 29, 80 and 31 would help the Selection Committee to a considerable extent.

The Chairman also asked the representatives to submit a list of meenbers of their respective clubs where they considered good enough for the trials. The names should be webmitted ten days before the Colony championships so as to enable. the V.R.C. (under whose auspices the contest is held) to furnish facilities for them to practice.

Another meeting will be held on Monday, August 12 at 6 p.m. when serve on the Selection Committee.

Geneva, Aug. 1.

The European crisis has been temporarily averted. League intervention in the Italo-Abyssinian dispute has been obviated, or at least delayed until September. Postponement of League Council action was Mongolia decided upon late to-night when the representatives of the major powers concerned agreed to a compromise.

Britain, France and Italy, through their spokesmen, agreed to the formula originally put forward by France, amended by Britain and revised by the Italians. Doubt of Italian acceptance was removed at the last minute, it BUT is believed, following telephonic conversations with Signor Benito Mussolini, the Italian Prime Minister.

The tri-party agreement is hailed as a victory by the Italians.

The compromise revives the Arbitration Commission's efforts, but under the restrictions which Signor Mussolini demanded: namely, that the Ualual incident alone be discussed and the generalities of the dispute be left for a later settle-

Upon receipt of Signor Mussolini's format (pproval to-morrow the compromise plan will be submitted to Ethiopia, whose acceptance will permit the Council to adopt it at its session on Friday aftermoon. Abyssinia's acceptance is anticipated.

LENGTHY DISCUSSIONS

The agreement followed twentyfour hours of discussion between M. Pierre Laval, the French Prime Minister, Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Minister for League and Baron Aloisi, the Italian spokesman at Geneva. The Anglo-French efforts to find a formula temporarily averting war and saving the League, was pronounced unacceptable by Mussolini, but the three powers eventually reached agreement.

The compromise is two-fold, involving, first, the terms of the resumption of arbitration, and, second, the procedure for settlement of the fundamental differences between the Italian and Ethiopian points of view.

The compromise apparently amounts to postponement of the issue. If arbitration fails to find a remedy, the League will act, but not before September.—United Press.

"One of the most difficult world problems to-day is that raised by the existence of States that have Empires and States that have not," declared Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, during a foreign affairs debate initiated in the House of Commons to-day by censorious Opposition speeches.

Mr. George Lansbury, Labour leader, demanded two World Conferences-firstly, a disarmament conference for the purpose of abolishing aerial warfare; and, secondly, the resummoning of the World Economic Conference. With regard to Abyssinia, Mr. Lansbury promised the Labour support of the Government as long as it upheld the League Covenant obligations, though they did not ask that British should act alone.

Sir Herbert Samuel (Liberal) thought it no derogation of the League if Italy, France and Britain, under the 1906 Treaty, got together on the Abyssinian question. He asked the Government to contradict the report that Italian co-operation in Central European matters was so eagerly desired that Britain and France had tied their hands by assurances given to Italy.

"If partial disclosures of the kind of transactions which occurred during the time. I was head of the Government were made again, I would, without any hesitation, take the responsibility of publishing the whole of the transactions.

"I know what was said about the liability of two years' 'imprisonment. It would be rather a new thing if the House of Lords could imprison a member of the House of Commons."

Unhappily neither the Duke of a position to reply to the Attorney-General's "Hushi" with a Lloyd Georgian "Booh!" for the truculent Duke passed away in 1852 and Nelson nearly 50 years earlier.

But the position raised by this retrospective application of the Official Secrets Act is an extremely odd one, and the possibilities which have dawned since the authorities forbade the sale of the Duke of Wellington's and Lord Nelson's letters, appear almost unlimited.

TREASON ONLY

First of all the facts. The Official Secrets Act was passed in 1911. It superseded the Act of 1889, before which date no "Official Secrets" machinery had existed at

In other words, until 50 years ago there was no authority for prosecuting a citizen for the disclosure of official information unless that disclosure definitely constituted an act of treason. You were either a I traitor or you weren't, and it is unlikely that Nelson who won Trafalgar, or the Duke of Welling-He will find-if he does not ton who won Waterloo, or, Mr.

> The Act of 1911 makes a crime of any revelation of their official activities in language which, verbose and pregnant with legal elaboration as it is, remains for al that strangely obscure.

For if anyone is liable to prosecution for passing on "to any person, other than a person to whom he is authorised to communicate it .

any note, document, or information . . which he has obtained owing to his position as a person who holds or has held office under His Majesty" it would seem that no exofficial would be safe in opening his mouth about his activities at all.

As for putting pen to paper, the fate of so many memoirs by former statesmen and diplomats is itself proof of how risky such a hobby

FOREIGN TO TRADITION

All this, it needs to be repeated, is essentially a modern development foreign to the tradition of English government:

That is why its retrospective application seems so odd.

INOCULATION QUESTION

We revert to the question of inoculation of dogs because there appears to be a diversity of view on the point whether the cost of such inoculation, if made compulsory, should be borne by the Government or by individual dog-owners. The point is subsidiary to the main issue, which is that every possible precaution should be taken to protect the public from the danger of possibly rabid dogs. dog is a potential source of danger, there is much to be said for the argument that the owner should meet the cost of a mensure necessitated by the mere fact that he owns a dog. There is also the further point that the inoculation fee, applied ina hardship, whereas for the Government to assume the whole burden would mean a considerable, though not burdensome, outlay of public funds. As we say, however, the major question is whether inoculation should be made compulsory. Apparently, the Government's | MONEY SAVED veterinary advisers do not consider that inoculation would produce maximum results. The contention, it seems, is that inasmuch as dogs from across the border and dogs aboard. junks and sampans would most | likely escape inoculation, no really effective results would accrue from the compulsory system. But surely is must be conceded that even if complete coverage is not possible, it

NOTES OF THE DAY

THE AIR FEVER

A very bad attack of air fover has fallen upon Turkey. She is making haste to acquire what is called an adequate air force, and, unfortunately, the measure of adequacy is constantly changing on the upward scale. What Turkey may think a sufficient force to-day she may deem wholly insufficien before the year is gone. At al events Turkey is going "all out" for air power. The minds of th people are being inflamed by Government appeal for subscriptions. Organisations have been formed in every town and village to gather in the money. The newspapers are sounding the big drum, and even the services of the priesthood are being enlisted in the good cause. All the members of the Civil Service have pledged themof their pay, wealthy business men have given large sums, and the devotion of aubscribers is marked somewhat after the manner of flag pounds required will soon be ob- disgust nor hot indignation! tained. One result of the coming of air power is that a nation which formerly was of little account in denly, and at comparatively little cost, acquire a status which came at very slow pace and at great sacrifice in the days when naval and military strength counted for all. Now the balance can be upset in a few years, and the peace of the world threatened from quarters formerly unthought of.

READER TAKES A HAND

Russia has begun a fascinating experiment in authorship. Soviet writers have started to read selections from their books to audiences of young people who criticize and suggest improvements. High hopes are entertained of this experiment. It is the reduction to a system of a method that has often proved useful when sporadically employed in the past. Alert authors have frequently taken hints from their readers, though Jane Austen once declined a suggestion made by no less distinguished an admirer than the Prince Regent to the effect that she should write a romantic costume novel. Trollope, publishing his stories in monthly parts, over heard an unknown lady in a public place say that she was tired of hi famous character, Mrs. Proudle From the standpoint that every "Madam," said Trollope, "she shall disappear in the next issue.' ### MRS. MOODY'S GREAT RECOVERY

THE TWO FINALISTS

BY H. S. SCRIVENER)

London, July 8. That must have Mrs. Moody is indeed a great player. been the inevitable conclusion arrived at by all who saw her win the women's singles championship at Wmbledon for the seventh time on Saturday. And what about Miss Jacobs, who was only beaten after being within a stroke of victory. She is unquestionably a great player, too. In fact, so splendidly did these two girls play that one felt

Among those who withessed this ! splendid battle from the Royal Box were Princess Helena Victoria, Prin-cess Marie Louise, the Earl of Athlone, Mr. Ramsny Macdonald, the Lord Mayor of London, the American-Ambassador and the Austrian and

Swiss Ministers. The next reflection, apropos of Mrs. Moody's greatness, is that she has regained in a positively wonderful manner the position of foremost woman player in the world, which she was compelled to relinquish nearly two years ago, after a return to tournament play which has lasted for only a few weeks.

In that short space of time she has had to overcome the difficulties caused by what may be termed lack of the tournament habit; she has sustained a defeat which to anyone less courage: ous would have proved distinctly disheartening and has had to reckon with the probability that several of her former rivals speaking generally-might have proved to have gone Neither of the New York base- ahead while she had been standing atill. Yet nothing has turned her from her purpose, and in the course of her passage to the final she has gone on from strength to strength until on Saturday we saw her in full possession of her wonderful stroke equipment and, what is more, blest with supreme coolness, confidence and determination. Thus is it that crises like that of Saturday referred to above are faced and overcome. So it came about that the girl who is actually the finer and more versatile player won. But let be South one club, North one diamond, South one no trump, all

At contract, South opens the bidding with one club, North bids two diamonds, showing a five-card suit and two and one-half tricks. South takes the declaration to three no trump.

The Play

Although West's hand holds five clubs and four diamonds, the diamond is opened in preference to the clubs because leading the club would be leading to declarer's strength, while leading a diamond is through dummy's strength.

If a suit is headed by queen, jack, ten, the queen is the proper opening, therefore West opens the change business transacted. Loans granted queen of diamonds, dummy wins on supreved securities. with the ace, returning the king of clubs. A heart is led to declarer's ace—then the ace of clubs on application. is led by declarer, dummy discard-[' ing the five of diamonds, the queen dropping from the East hand.

Declarer continues with the ten of clubs, discarding another diamond from dummy, East also discarding a diamond. Hoping for a heart break, the king of hearts is led; but West shows out, discarding the eight of hearts.

East now has a tenace position over the dummy's hearts. Declarer switches and leads the three of spades, West plays low, dummy plays the nine, East winning with the jack.

The declarer has a perfect count issued by Reuter: on the West hand. Abyssinia affair and at the same time stand by the amendment introduced by Mr. Eden in the French draft resolution last night

M. Laval, Mr. Eden and Baron Aloisi consequently met at o'clock this evening in the hope of reaching a solution to their difficulties. The chief point difference at the moment is that Italy is insisting that the Counci can in no way be associated with the negotiations of the three signatories of . the 1906 Treaty Britain, France and Italy, and to them should be left any discus sion of the African situation as it is affected by that treaty.

OBSTACLE REMOVED

It was stated that one of the Mr. Eden, M. Laval and Baron textile report soon. Aloisi met and adopted their with tri-partite negotiations.

The compromise is said to have made the Italo-Abyssinian quarrel to negotiate in the spirit of that Press. treaty. This would seem to mean that the League would be deprived of authority at this stage and that a settlement should be sought between Britain, France and italy, together with the fourth power interested, Abyssinia.

By this arrangement, it is stated, Britain obtains satisfaction in substance, and Italy obtains satisfaction in form. However, it is not yet clear whether Signor Mussolini accepts the plan, in spite of the fact that Baron Aloisi is reported to have. approved of it.—Reuter.

U. S. BACKS LEAGUE

Washington, August 1. A weighty pronouncement on the Abyssinian dispute is believed to have been designed to put the moral support of the United. States behind the League of Nations. It was made public by President Roosevelt to-night.

"At the moment the Council of the League of Nations is assembled to consider ways, and means of composing, by pacific means, the differences between Italy and Ethiopia. I wish." said the President, "to voice the hope of the people and Government of the United States that an amicable solution will be found and peace maintained."-Reuter.

MOTOR-MUDDLE

EUROPEAN DENIES OFFENCE

Robert Young was summoned before Mr. W. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, for driving private car No. 1878 without due care and caution in Repulse Bay Road.

The summons was taken out by Mr. J. A. Bendall, of the Public Works Department, as a result of an incident on the Repulse Bay Road, when the defendant was alleged to have cut in on a stream of traffic.

Inspector Alexander Traffic said that about 4 p.m. on July 21, the complainant was driving down Repulse Bay Road. There were two cars in front of him and two more behind. While rounding a corner, another car came up the Repulse Bay Road and defendant was alleged to have overtaken complainant's car, and ference. United Press. cut in in front of him. cars might have been involved.

Defendant said he was at a tea party in Kowloon on the afternoon in question, and he was not the owner or driver of the car.

Mr. Schofield fixed the hearing of the case for the afternoon of August 6, and requested Inspector Alexander to make enquiries about the matter.
